P.J. Ferguson Insurance Agency Joins Braley & Wellington Group

Worcester, MA – The P. J. Ferguson Insurance Agency, at 184 Main Street, Leominster, has joined the Braley Wellington Insurance Group, according to Parker Wellington, President and CEO. “We are delighted to welcome the P.J. Ferguson Agency and its customers to the Braley & Wellington family of agencies,” said Wellington, “and especially pleased to add a north Worcester County dimension to the group.”

The P.J. Ferguson Agency has been in business in its present location since 1989 as a family-owned business offering personal and business insurance lines with friendly, personalized service. The agency will remain at its present location and principals Peter Ferguson and Dee Curley will continue with the agency as vice presidents.

The new alliance with the Braley Wellington Group will permit the Ferguson Agency to considerably expand its portfolio of insurance products to include the many additional insurance companies and products presently available through the group, according to Wellington. “We are looking forward to serving the customers of the P.J. Ferguson Agency with the same quality service and commitment to the community that they have known for many years,” he said.

The Braley Wellington Insurance Agency Corporation, located at 44 Park Avenue, Worcester, has been in an active period of growth since its inception in the mid-1970s with the merger of Estes & Johnson Insurance, Ernest Smith Insurance and Hamilton Davis Insurance. The Braley & Wellington Group now includes four agencies: the C.D. Whitney Agency of Millbury, the Hernan B. Conant Agency of Auburn, and the P.J. Ferguson Agency in addition to the Braley & Wellington Agency.

The Braley Wellington Group is a full-service insurance organization providing for the personal, commercial and financial needs of its clients. Additional information about the Group and the insurance products it offers may be found at the company’s website at
